BURNED TO DEATH.

TRAGEDY AT CARGO.

HOTELKEEPER AND HIS WIFE INCINERATED.

[We take the following report of the sad tragedy which affects so many respected district folks, relatives of the victims, from the "Canowindra Star":—

The community of Canowindra was shocked on Saturday morning, Feb. 21, when the news came through that Mr. J. Carmody's Post Office Hotel at Cargo had been burned to the ground and Mr. and Mrs. Carmody incinerated in the ruins.

At first there seemed to be a doubt as to whether they were in the building while it was burning, and the first report was that they were missing. This was corrected later on when a messenger arrived and told that the worst fears of their friends had been realised and the charred remains of the unfortunate victims were discovered in the cellar underneath the bar-parlor.

The hotel was one of those old weeden structures, built in the very early days of Cargo, and only needing a match and a fair wind to complete its destruction at any time.

It appears that the family went to bed after seeing that everything was alright for the night, but in the morning at about a o'clock Mr. Carmody was awakened by a crackling of flames and rushed out of the room where he and Mrs. Carmody was sleeping, in order to find out what was taking place. Immediately he awakened the inmates of the hotel, amongst whom wers his family of eight children. It is supposed that he carried some of them out to a place of safety and then rushed back for Mrs. Carmody, who was recovering from an illness. That was the inst soon of either of them.

CHARRED REMAINS FOUND IN CELLA'R.

Willing hands were seen on the spotbut little if anything could be done, as a strong wind was blowing at the time, and there was absolutely no conveniences for Hre fighting. The destruction of the building . as only a matter of minutes, and the caving in of the roof seemed to bring the end with startling rapidity.

Weanwhile the scene around the blazing building was pitiable to the extreme, one of the children rushing about the place calling for his parents. A search was made, but they could not be found, and although no one would venture to say it. the general conclusion was that they had perished in the flames. When the Gre subsided a further search was made in the smouldering ashes without avail, At a later hour the awful discovery was made of the charred remains of two people in the cellar.

HOW THEY MET DEATH.

How the victims met their deaths will never be known, but there are various surmises. The general belief is that when Mr. Carmody rushed back to save his wife, both were overcome by the smoke, and either went down the cellar for safety, or else were standing on the floor above the cellar when it collapsed and precipitated them into the chamber below. box was found slose by, but the notes and cheques in it were burned and almost valueless.

Another theory is that one or both went in quest of the cash-box, after seeing that the children were safe, and had not time to get out. Mr Carmody banked with the Commercial Bank of this town at intervals, and the money was probably kept in a hiding place known to each of thom.

Not a thing was saved, the whole of the furniture, including a new piano being reduced to ashes. There were insurances on the property and contests.

Mr. Carmody, who had nine children, was known in Trundle, and Orange as a hotelkeeper, in the latter place being in the Exchange Hotel. He came to Cargo from Baldey. Before taking to the hotel business he was a successful wheat-farmer in the Ardlethan district.

Mrs. Carmody only recently left "Grantham" Hospital in this town, where she was seriously ill for some time.

Wide district sympathy is expressed for the orphaned children.

The funeral of the late Mr and Mrs Carmody, victims of the recent fire at Cargo, took place in the R.C. portion of the Cargo Cemetery, the cortege being one of the largest seen in Cargo for some time, testifying to the popularity of the deceased couple. The bodies were enclosed in one coffin. The children of the Public and Convent schools marched in front of the hearse, followed by the Priest and Altar boys. The members of the Hibernian Society also marched. The scene at the graveside was maget touching. Relatives at the graveside, in addition to all 'be children, included Mr James Carmody and Miss Carmody, of Mt. Pleasant, a brother and sister of Mr Carmody, and Mr John Tobill, of Myola, brother to Mrs Carmody.

The sad affair has caused widespread sorrow in the Elmore district, where Mr and Mrs Carmody were well knewn, and deep sympathy is tendered the bereaved relatives. The late Birs Carmody's aged mother and brother. John, reside at Myola, and Mra M. Ryan is a sister. The late Mr Carmody has brothers and sisters residing in the Elmore district.
